THE MODERN SHOE SHOP BURGLARIZED

SAFE AND CASH REGISTER RIFLED—MACHINERY DISABLED

THIEF AS YET UNKNOWN

Authorities Believe Burglar Had Key and Knew Combination to The Safe

The Modern Shoe Shop, owned by T. J. Penisten, was entered last night and about $70 taken out of the cash register and safe and considerable damage done to the machinery and stock of goods. It is not known how the store was entered but it is the supposition that the grate on the side walk which leads to the basement of the building which the shop occupies was lifted up and the building entered from the basement.

The authorities, however, were of the opinion that the store was entered through the front door, the party having a key to the same. The safe, it is thought, was opened by some one who had or knew the combination.

When William (Sunny) Vance, an employee of the shop, came to work this morning about 6:15 o'clock, he found that the stock was some what disordered. Closer investigation disclosed that the belts on the machinery were all cut except the drive belt, the safe was opened and about $70 had been taken out of that and the cash register. The door on the safe was unlocked but closed. Silver and currency had been taken but the checks were left. Mr. Penisten said that he could not tell if any of the stock was missing or make any estimate of the damage done to the machinery.

The person who entered the shop took the precautions to cut the telephone cord. It is not known at what time the shop was entered. The last time that the owner was there was about nine o'clock last night, when Mr. Penisten and his son came past there from the picture show at that time. They did not have any connection with the shop after that until they were notified of the trouble at the shop by Sunny Vance this morning about 6:15 o'clock.

HAND SIGNALS CHANGED BY THE NEW MOTOR LAW

When Stopping or Checking Speed The Motorist Shall Extend Arm in Horizontal Position

The driver of a motor car at an intersecting street or road will have the right-of-way over a car approaching from the left, but not over the car which approaches from the right under the new rules of the road laid down by the Bestor motor vehicle law.

When stopping or checking speed the new regulation will require the motorist "shall extend his arm in a horizontal position so that the same may be seen in the rear of his vehicle." For turns to the right the arm must be extended "at an angle above horizontal." Turning to the left the driver must extend his arm at an angle "below horizontal."

The new regulations prohibit stopping cars on the left side of the road or street; and in making turns the driver is required to reduce speed and to keep on the right side.

On all inclosed cars or motor vehicles from which the hand signals cannot be seen at the rear, the law requires in all cities of more than ten thousand the owners shall equip their cars with mechanical rear signal devices.

URGE FARMERS NOT TO SHIP BEEF TO PACKING CENTERS

Grain Takes Its Lowest Drop Yesterday Since 1906—Two Reasons Given

Chicago, Aug. 20—Farmers throughout the middle west were receiving circulars from the Chicago Live Stock Association urging the restriction of the shipping of cattle to packing centers. The demoralization of the trade, the appeal declares, will result in glutting the markets. Two reasons were assigned for the present overstocked condition of the packing centers. They are: The recent campaign waged by the rural ranks and merchants to induce the farmers to sell grain and live stock and pay debits; an dthe sudden slump in beef consumption.

The "Pay your Debts" campaign is declared responsible for the recent declines in grain. Corn and oats yesterday reached the lowest level since 1906.

Every Teacher Must Have Certificate Showing Freedom From Disease.

Jefefrson City, Aug. 20.—The requirement of health certificates for Missouri school teachers, as provided in a bill passed by the regular session of the legislature, was called to the attention of county superintendents Thursday by State Superintendent of Schools Sam A. Baker.

Superintendent Baker referred to the section of the law:

Next Week At the Movies

AT THE EMPIRE.

Wallace Reid has become a teacher of charm in a young ladies school! The pupils are taught how to make themselves charming, the course comprising lessons in Grecian and modern dancing, swimming, delsarte and beauty culture.

But before Mr. Reid is swamped with letters of inquiry from admiring screen fans, it should be said that this is only a part of the star's latest Paramount picture, "The Charm School" which will be shown Monday and Tuesday.

According to the story, Mr. Reid, as Austin Bevans, inherits the girls' school from his aunt. Believing that women should devote more time to making themselves charming he converts the institution into a "charm" school and changes all the methods of instruction. There is a wealth of romance, a breezy plot and many other delightful features.

The story was written by Alice Duer Miller and Lila Lee is the leading woman.

More than a brilliant study of married life, Mary Roberts Rinehart has made the struggle of a father to win the friendship of his son a fine element in the novel, "Dangerous Days," which is now a brilliant motion picture play.

Clayton Spencer is a millionaire on the make, and his wife, Natalie, is spending it as fast as he makes it. An architect, Rodney Page, plans the new mansion and plays around with her. The son, Graham, works at the mill, but has bills beyond his salary and trifles with women close to the danger point. His stenographer, Anna Klein, is already in love with him. A society girl named Marion Hayden knows all the tricks of catching a husband. She ought to, she is the oldest in her set and it is the fastest set in town. She is soon laying a soft hand on Graham's arm. But the best girl of all is Delight, who loved Graham before he grew up. She is sorry for herself and for him that he is not all he should be.

When Clayton Spencer discovers that he loves Audrey Valentine more than he does his wife Natalie, he proves himself a man. Audrey changes from a daring social leader to a woman who earns her own living. The son, Graham, finds himself and the girl. The best girl goes away from home and wins him. The great factory becomes the center of a conspiracy that catches Graham and Anna in its meshes, and throws the spotlight on Audrey at the moment of terrific explosion.

The crisis that spreads to the nation forces a show down in the characters of the people in "Dangerous Days" and brings about a climax that has made Mrs. Rinehart's latest novel the best seller of the season. It has become a greater story as a photoplay produced by Goldwyn for Eminent Authors Pictures. It will be shown Wednesday and Thursday.

Love interest and melodrama are nicely blended in Maurice Tourneur's new Paramount production, "The Bait," which will be shown Friday and Saturday. Hope Hampton, the Texas beauty who sprang into film fame almost overnight, is the featured player.

"The Bait" unfolds the story of Joan Grainger, a pretty shop girl who is picked out by Bennett Barton, a master crook, as his pawn in a game to blackmail Warren, a young millionaire. With the aid of his assistant Simpson, Barton "frames" Joan and, after rescuing her on the way to jail, poses as her protector. A chance meeting with Warren at the Follies Bergere leads to a love affair between the millionaire and Hope. Later learning Barton's true character, she tries to throw off his influence and, in a series of thrilling scenes, is finally able to thrwart him and win happiness.

Miss Hampton's performance as Joan is excellent, and Jack McDonald, in the role of Barton, the crook, is more than good. Harry Woodward, Joe Singleton, Rue Ebberly, and Poupee Andriot are also included in the supporting cast.

At the Electric

"A Kiss in Time", the Wanda Hawley picture which will show Monday and Tuesday is the story of a man's wager that he can meet, woo and win a certain girl within four hours. The girl is especially sceptical about love in general and rapid-fire affairs in particular. When a well-meaning amateur detective further complicates the events of this crowded afternoon, the plot thickens to a marvelous consistency.

Miss Hawley plays the role of the maid who didn't believe in love. T. Roy Barnes is the Fast Worker and Walter Hiers, the amateur detective. Thomas Heffron directed the production, which is one of the most enjoyable comedy-dramas that the popular blonde star has ever been seen in. It will remain at the same theatre for two days.

What should a man do who lost his daughter in a card game, only to discover that she was secretly married to an underling, and his honor contemptuously sniffed at by the gambler who won? This fascinating problem will be presented in "Hearts Are Trumps," the exciting picture that comes to the Theatre as the feature attraction for Wednesday and Thursday.

Certainly a queer situation which photoplay fans will go to see unravelled.

After Lord Altcar, the father, learns of the marriage, he orders Michael Wain, his forester, lashed by the keepers. Wain thinks his wife, Lady Winifred, is responsible, and vows revenge. Twenty years afterwards he succeeds by becoming wealthy and foreclosing the mortgae of the manor. Lord Burford, the man who had won the card game, now pursues Lady Winifred's daughter, Dora. He disgraces her by stealing the half-finished portrait painted by her fiance, and having a nude figure attached to the head. She is trapped in a Swiss calet by the old rogue. The climax comes with the unexpected action of a money-lender and the arrival of aid in a bitter snow storm.

The picture is from the celebrated stage melodrama by Cecil Raleigh, and is a Metro special all-star production. Rex Ingram is the director. The cast includes Frank Brownlee, Norman Kennedy, Alice Terry and Francelia Gillington.

On Friday night Wm. S. Hart will be shown in one of his favorite Western pictures, "The Patriot". No advance information is available on this picture other than it will be one of Hart's typical western pictures.

Outcasts from the four corners of the globe are the characters in "Bucking the Tiger" the Selznick Picture which comes next Saturday.

The scene is the wild snow-bound wastes of the far north where man takes the law into his own hands unhampered by the red tape of legal procedures.

Conway Tearle as MacDonald, the wayward and disgraced son of wealthy parents driven from home in dishonor, has a role which contains wonderful possibilities for the demonstration of his subtle emotionalism. The supporting cast with Winifred Westover as leading woman to the star, contains many well known names.

The story concerns the efforts of Ritchie MacDonald to save Emily Dwyer a young girl who has come to the mining camp expecting to marry a scamp who had won her love under false pretenses. A novel scheme for her financial assistance is suggested by MacDonald to the other miners, namely that they subscribe for $100,000 insurance for one of their number, who should be obliged to sacrifce himself so the remaining four may receive the insurance. MacDonald himself receives the fatal number and he promises to commit suicide at the end of a year. He would have kept his word, but only one thing in the world would have excused him and that thing happened
